about DOUBLE DUTCH

A group of people performing Double Dutch on a city street at night. They are wearing matching blue tracksuits with white patterns on the pants. The ropes are red and yellow. The background shows city buildings and a street sign.

"Double Dutch" is a sport that teammates coordinate with their teammates to manipulate two jump ropes while expressing themselves.

It is a highly performative discipline that combines dance, acrobatics, and rope tricks to music.

In recent years, it has also gained global attention as a form of urban sport.

Who is... Millennium Collection

A powerhouse Double Dutch team whose members are all former world champions. Their performances—combining high-level technique, and musicality—captivate audiences wherever they go. With the team concept “Stay Young, New Creation,” they continue to embrace a fresh mindset and pursue new forms of expression and challenge. They also focus on nurturing the next generation, currently teaching over 50 students.

The diagram illustrates the Solo battle personality model. It features a large, irregular pentagon with a black outline, divided into four quadrants by a diagonal line from the top-left to the bottom-right. The top-left quadrant is labeled 'Small face'. The top-right quadrant is labeled 'Silhouette'. The bottom-left quadrant is labeled 'Stamina'. The bottom-right quadrant is labeled 'Selfish'. Inside the pentagon, there are three concentric, light-purple pentagons of decreasing size, centered on the diagonal axis. The text 'Solo battle' is positioned at the top center of the diagram.
